Subject: EOCCG Update 7: Planned Truck Demonstration

Good evening,

There are very few people remaining on Parliament Hill and approximately 50 people left on Wellington Street. At last estimate, there were approximately 200 trucks remaining in the downtown area. This core group of protesters has been generally cooperative with police, but express no interest in leaving; they are also being assisted by supporters. Tomorrow's outlook is expected to be similar to that of today, with the possibility of a demonstration at Confederation Park, details yet to be confirmed.

Intelligence suggests there are plans for additional convoys to come to the City over the weekend. As with last week, the details are scarce. Local hotel chains started to report increased bookings and extension of stays, but have since reported that they have started to cancel these reservations. Nevertheless, the EOC continues to work with partners, including the NCRCC to assess and plan for additional impacts. Both the EOC and the NCRCC are ensuring staffing is in place through Sunday, February 6.

The perimeter remains the same in the downtown core. The MacDonald-Cartier Bridge, Chaudière Bridge and Champlain Bridge are open, and the Alexandra and Portage Bridges remain closed. Traffic outside of the perimeter is moving well. The plan to relieve Public Works resources and assets is being implemented tonight so that they can be available for snow clearing; currently a mix of snow and rain is predicted through the day tomorrow, with a total snow accumulation of 5cm. Mixed precipitation is expected to continue through to Friday, with a total snow accumulation of up to 20 cm.

The EOC worked with CSSD, ServiceOttawa 3-1-1, 2-1-1 and Ottawa Public Health, to develop a process for requests to help people impacted by the demonstrations. Residents in the downtown core who are in need of emergency supports such as, but not limited to, groceries, warm meals and medications, can call 3-1-1. If the call is made within the hours of 09:00 am and 09:00 pm, the call will be transferred to the Human Needs Task Force phone line. If the call is made outside of these hours and can wait until morning, the client will be transferred to the same line to leave a voicemail. If the call occurs after 09:00 pm and cannot wait until morning, the caller will be directed to 2-1-1.

There are no new service impacts to report since the PSA was issued this afternoon.

The Ottawa Police Service will be holding an information briefing for Members of Council and Ottawa Police Services Board members on Wednesday, February 2 from 2 to 4 pm.
